March 04, 2002, North Tonawanda, NY (USA) – Ziphany, LLC, a provider of Energy monitoring/verifications systems, returns to Buffalo following an extremely successful showing at the 2002 Utility Automation DistribuTech International Conference.

In addition to steady inquires by Utility representatives and potential end use customers, several very large companies in the same general market space expressed significant interest in Ziphany's products and services. Ziphany's flexible business model offers one monthly fee for full ASP services; this plug and play approach is much cleaner and quite different from the early service providers.

Tim Mattulke, Director Business Development, commented, "We were very pleased with our showing but not surprised. Ziphany strives to provide the next generation of Operational Monitoring systems; people are always interested with those companies that are positioned on the leading edge."

Ziphany chose this opportunity to unveil their enhanced Process Intelligence product line facilitating their Operational Intelligence package. Ziphany now provides the ability to monitor both energy and key process activity overlay these items and make operational decisions Now-Time™ to reduce overhead costs. Ziphany services now also facilitate preventive maintenance of monitored process equipment reducing costs associated with run-off and unplanned outages.
